DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: Weaving and knitting are two clearly different processes, machines and products. As such a clear distinction between the two should be maintained. Therefor, the terms "weave" "weaving", etc should be changed to "knit", knitting", "interknit" etc since applicant's product is knit tube. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

Claims 3, 4 and 7 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim should be set forth in the alternative only and a multiple dependent claim cannot depend from another multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, claims 3, 4 and 7 have not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The term "weave" is accurate since the resultant product is knit. The term "weft course" is unclear. Is this a weft inlay yarn?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1, 2, 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Relets et al (6854298) in view of Akers et al (6711920).

The disclosure of Relets et al (6854298) teaches the invention substantially as claimed as seen for example in the embodiment of figure 3 including a flexible protective tube comprising at least two different yarns (1 and 2) characterized in that some first yarns (1) form a "weave" of weft courses combined with stitch courses. The disclosure of Relets et al (6854298) does not set forth a plurality of larger diameter zones and smaller diameter zones which are alternated along the length of the tube. The disclosure of Akers et al (6711920) teaches a flexible protective tube which as seen in figure 1 includes larger diameter zones (20) and smaller diameter zones (12) which are alternated along the length of the tube. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to provide the protective knitted tube of Relets et al with smaller and larger segments as shown by Akers et al in order to provide radial stiffness and bending flexibility as set forth by Akers et al in column 1, lines 30-37. Re claims 5 and 6, while the disclosure of Relets et al teaches a range of yarn sizes between .15 and .3 mm it does not teach expressly set forth the specific yarns sizes of .22mm and .20 mm. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to choose from a number of different yarns sizes including .22mm and .20mm since the disclosure of Relets et al suggests such yarns sizes given the disclosed range of .15 and .3 mm and since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the size of a component. A change in size is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955).
